BY ONE DAY'S DELAY ELECTRIC RATES STAND.

Protest Too Late.

THE DELAY of one day in filing the protest of large power users against the rates for electricity proposed by the Board of Public Utilities has resulted in the rates for the month of June being fixed one day after the expiration of the time for protest. The City Council at an adjourned session last night voted to approve the rates proposed by the board, and the rates will become effective on June 1.

The subject was called up by Deputy City Attorney Robert H. Coffey, who stated that the board had filed its protest one day after the expiration of the time for protest. He stated that the board had filed its protest one day after the expiration of the time for protest. He stated that the board had filed its protest one day after the expiration of the time for protest.

He declared that the sale of power to the street railway companies at less than 10 cents per kilowatt hour is more profitable than the sale of power to small consumers at the schedule rates, because of the expense incurred in handling.

Prof. Kofner, engineer of the Pasadena municipal lighting plant, who has been the Board of Utilities' expert in fixing the new rates, spoke on behalf of the board, showing that the new rates are a reduction over the rates of the past year, and contending that the protestants must have had special favors in rates over other consumers. If the new rates increase their bills. The arguments at times waxed hot and when one protestant declared that the electric power companies and the Board of Public Utilities were in partnership there was a stormy scene with members of the board, Councilmen and others all on their feet at one time and the sergeant-at-arms was in their midst to calm the storm.

After the discussion the Council voted to file the protest, and thus the rates will become effective on July 1, as follows:

Per light: Ten kilowatt hours or less in one month, 45 cents; first 100 kilowatt hours, 64 cents per kilowatt hour; 100 to 250 5 cents; 250 to 500 4 cents; 500 to 1000 3 1/2 cents; 1000 to 2000 3 cents; 2000 to 5000 2 1/2 cents; excess of 5000, 2 cents.

For power: 100 kilowatt hours in one month, 6 cents per kilowatt hour; 100 to 500 5 cents per kilowatt hour; 500 to 1000 4 cents per kilowatt hour; 1000 to 1500 3 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour; 1500 to 2000 3 cents per kilowatt hour; 2000 to 3000 2 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour; excess of 3000, 1.5 cents per kilowatt hour.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.
EAST MEXICO WINS FRIENDS.

Americans Quietly Lease in Promising Region.

May Become One of Greatest Oil Fields.

It Affords Many Chances to Get Into Game.

Oil men returning from Mexico are in the opinion that the east coast area is destined to become among the greatest in the world. Where the fields are located no war has disrupted operations, the only disturbing factor being the lack of foreign investments. Money being scarce here, it is said, a small amount of trouble in getting new work started is a general and permanent thing. The east coast fields are in good shape. Several operators are taking advantage of the present uncertain times by securing leases for immediate development. At present it is raining on the east coast and much of the development work that was to have started has been postponed. But it is the general belief that when the rains come to over the east coast will experience a large and long period of activity.

Oil men returning from Mexico are in the opinion that the east coast area is destined to become among the greatest in the world. Where the fields are located no war has disrupted operations, the only disturbing factor being the lack of foreign investments. Money being scarce here, it is said, a small amount of trouble in getting new work started is a general and permanent thing. The east coast fields are in good shape. Several operators are taking advantage of the present uncertain times by securing leases for immediate development. At present it is raining on the east coast and much of the development work that was to have started has been postponed. But it is the general belief that when the rains come to over the east coast will experience a large and long period of activity.

El Segundo to Have a $50,000 Fruit and Vegetable Cannery

Construction Work Will Start Within Two Weeks

THE GIANT SMOKE-STACKS OF THE STANDARD OIL REFINERY AT EL SEGUNDO.

Another important industry will soon be established at El Segundo—Southern California's progressive young oil city. A company has been formed and incorporated, with a capital of $50,000, which will be known as the El Segundo Canning Company. The corporation will erect a modern cannery plant, work upon which will be commenced within fifteen days. The plant will be modern in every detail—in fact, it will be one of the most up-to-date establishments of its kind on the Pacific Coast. The very highest type of machinery has been ordered and will soon be on the way. Contracts will be made with many farmers in the district of El Segundo, and adjacent thereto, for the season's crop of fruits, berries and vegetables—such as strawberries, raspberries, tomatoes, beans, peas, corn, oranges, lemons, pears, apricots, olives, grapes, etc. The owners of El Segundo's many small farms will have a market for all products at home.

The El Segundo Canning Company is only one of several industries which will be established in this vigorous young industrial city within a very short time. Among the different propositions now considering the free factory sites, terminal freight rates, and cheap fuel—afforded at El Segundo, are—a machine foundry, refrigerator factory, can factory, furniture factory, and a plant that will manufacture petroleum by-products. A paint factory is also a probability here.

Real Estate Sales at El Segundo During Past Four Weeks—$119,250

That the investing public is recognizing the virgin opportunities offered at El Segundo is evidenced by the large amount of real estate sales made each month. During the month of May, just past, the total amount of property sold aggregated $119,250. And El Segundo is not being boomed. It is growing naturally and conservatively. There is a logical reason for El Segundo. Here is located the second Standard Oil refinery of the great Standard Oil corporation. Eight hundred acres of land have been purchased by the Standard here, and it is the purpose to establish several oil units, thus making the plant the largest of its kind in the United States.

El Segundo offers an abundance of cheap fuel (the residuum from the refinery), free factory sites, terminal freight rates, spur-track courtesies, and easy access to labor, the efficiency of which is rated the highest in the United States. Residence sites may be purchased today at El Segundo, on a basis of $10 down and $10 a month. Acre sites are purchasable for $25 down and $10 a month. Properties purchased at Port Richmond, California, the site of the first Standard Oil Refinery on the coast, have increased in value 1000 per cent. and more. The same conditions will undoubtedly be repeated at El Segundo. Full information, relative to real estate, business and industrial opportunities at El Segundo may be obtained from the El Segundo Land & Improvement Company, 136-7-8-9 Title Insurance and Trust Building, Los Angeles.

Clergyman Pronounces Eloquent Eulogy at Burial, Declaring Departed Was Recognized as Attorney of Great Ability and Man of Splendid Character.

Funeral services for the late Judge Cyrus McNutt, were held yesterday morning at Breese chapel in the presence of a large number of friends of the dead jurist. The funeral had been postponed for one day pending the arrival of a son.

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. Among the most perfect of the set pieces was a large cross of carnations and roses from the Los Angeles Bar Association, a magnificent gate ajar in red roses, a token of the esteem in which Judge McNutt was held by the Indiana Bar Association.

Following the service at the parlors, the remains were taken to the crematory at Evergreen Cemetery. The pall bearers were E. K. Albaugh, J. C. North, Ben Goodrich, W. R. Mail, A. M. Stephens and A. L. Rhoads.

Service

Some guarantees are like a fire department which will put out your fire if you bring your building around while it is burning.

Burglar Service comes to the "fire" before the lid of your machine causes a serious loss.

An insurance policy doesn't remove the need for a fire department. Neither can perfect material and workmanship in the product prevent accidents in its use.

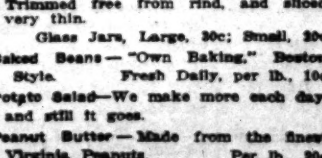

When a manufacturer tells you his product is so perfect you don't need service—that he won't give service—better compare his guarantee to a stationary fire department.

Perfect construction is good. We can't afford to make it anything but "fire-proof," because we have to take care of the "fire."

Let us send you the Burroughs Service Book, "$300,000 a Year."

William Roberts Orpheum Star in presentation of Best Marie's comedy of "Fog O' My Mind" to Go to Maxine Elliott Theater, New York City.

The limited summer engagement of the famous comedians, Kolb and Max Dill, a big organization numbering fifty-five, will commence at the Palace Theater next Sunday night when these favorite funmak-ers respond on the majestic stage after an absence of two seasons in their recent Viennese music comedy success, "The Girl in the Mask."

William Kolb and Max Dill are undoubtedly the most popular comedians who have ever appeared on a stage, and their reappearance after having been individual stars for some time, has aroused the interest of every theater-goer in Los Angeles.

Their opening vehicle, "The Girl in the Mask," recently succeeded in winning the favor of the theatergoers for four solid weeks, and the audience declared it to be the biggest success in the history of the career.

The show shows Clarence Kolb in the role of a German court secretary, who Max Dill will be seen in the part of a dashing car conductor.
In their support will be found Florence Blair, prima donna, who may be remembered as the star of "Cupid at Bay," and other successes: Olga Black, a well-known local favorite; Belle Wilson, Otto Schrader and others well known to the musical theater world, while there will be a chorus of thirty which Mr. Kolb imported from New York, said to be of a high and fine type.

Two headliners, each of the highest order, will grace the Orpheum theater next Monday matinee—William Roberts and Ray Cox. The latter will be seen in a dramatization of Best Marie's "Fog," which is an excellent picture of the theater-goer's life in California.

Ray Cox is a comedian, and a budget of songs all her own.
Her own composition,
"The Girl Who Knows How to Put Over," is a hit to be a sensation. The six comedians, sister real sisters, took all musicians, and will be heard in a series of instrumental and vocal selections, drawn from the classic down.

In the way of asophia, a novelty is introduced by Maxine Roberts, who will be singing, dancing, and acting in "Dinklespie's Christmas," Barnard, the diletto comedian, and the four Holloway comedians on the right wire.

The Burbank Theater continues to be the scene of big delighted audiences at every performance of Hartley's delightful new comedy,
"Fog O' My Mind," in which Laurence and the Burbank organization are the current theatrical year.

The limited engagement of Miss Maudie and the number of new plays which must be produced during this time to achieve a run of any length and consequently there remains but few more performances of "Fog O' My Mind."

General audiences continue to be attracted to the Empire Theater where the new play, "The Girl Who Knows How to Put Over," is being presented.
The play has been a great success, and the audience has been thoroughly entertained and thoroughly pleased in several weeks.

ACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN

BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: It may seem a far cry from the question of beauty to that of the fit of the underwear and yet it is a fact that a woman pays too little attention to the fit and hang of those garments which are hidden from view, and as a result, their outer appearance is marred. With the present styles, the smallest wrinkle or crease in the undergarment is apt to show on the surface with a bulge, spoil the set of skirt or waist. The corset must be right, the brassiere express or distort the form to proper proportions and, in fact, must be as right within the costume, as on the exterior, to give the perfect appearance without.

It is a fact that the woman who is taking due pride in her appearance, and who is not content with the ordinary, but who is looking for the best, is the one who is most likely to be successful in her career. It is not the woman who is content with the ordinary, but who is looking for the best, who is most likely to be successful in her career. THE BIG PROBATION JOB.

Judge Wilbur Issues a Report and Manual to Tell What Is Done and How to Do It.

Under authority of the County Board of Supervisors, the report and manual of the Juvenile Court has just been issued by Judge Wilbur. It is designed to give the public information concerning the work that is being done for delinquent boys and girls and instructions to probation officers. It also contains a full outline of what the Juvenile Court is, and general information is given in order that parents and others may know how to reach and co-operate with the officers. There are now twenty probation officers, and so great is the demand upon them that they have in their charge an average of 150 cases each, over which they must keep supervision, and for which they are, in a way, responsible.

The officers are: Hugh C. Gibson, chief; A. C. Dudge, first assistant; Mrs. Frances H. Byram, second assistant; Miss Louise Barber, Mrs. Jennie B. Bradley, Mrs. Anne Darling, Clyde Doyle, Raymond E. Dunlop, Jennie Holgate, Elsie Forman, F. Leclaire, Roland Murphy, Mrs. E. J. Norvell, Miss M. M. Parker, Mrs. Harriet Probasco, Frank L. Reyes, Mrs. Harriet Shaw, Miss O. J. Shonts, Paul Stiller, Edward Solomon, all assistant probation officers.

In addition to the above, there are many voluntary probation officers throughout the county, the desire of the court being to have one such officer in every town and township outside the city.

for making yokes for my summer gown, when I can buy them so cheaply," said a lady who plans closely as to her expenditures. She opened her package and showed me two pretty and well-made dress yokes, one of shadow lace and one of fine embroidery, which she had purchased for as little as 10c. "I don't know," she said, "but I think I'll try one."

It takes so much "fussing" to make and fit the yokes, to say into the Dutch neck, that it certainly pays to buy them when you can get them as cheap as she bought hers.

Even There!

The recent great suffrage parade in New York, particularly in the many of the leading society women, has had its effect; and a new note has crept into the editorials of that leading fashion magazine which has heretofore scoffed at votes for women. The last number contains a serious article upon "Chivalry for the New Woman." This windblown "straw" is so great as to amount to a "hay stack" in a compelling gale.

Notes From Fashion's Libretto.

In many cases the train of an evening gown is finished with a large tassel, the material being gathered into it.

Striped materials are mostly trimmed with the stuff, used in the reverse fashion for bands and facings generally.

A novelty belt that is quite pretty is of morocco, with a design framed by the interlacing of narrow strips of cut leather.

Dark blue is becoming more and more the fashion of the hour, and the dark blue tailor made is the suit of the smart woman.

In the regular handling the hat idea is still adhered to, and no good dresser will carry a bag that is more than an inch thick.

Little silk coats made of shot taffeta and lined with a contrasting shade of chiffon are promised to wear over frocks of summer muslin.

Tailored gowns will be made with the director's collar that leaves the throat bare, the gulfing being of embroidered linen or mouseline.

A new style of parasol is known as the cordellere. It is made of white silk over not less than twelve gilt ribs. It is very deeply curved.

D. Rang, No. 1450 East Twenty-first street, 28 years old, was not so fortunate in an accident. When his team ran away at Thirty-eighth street and La Salle avenue he was thrown out of the wagon and sustained a broken leg. Ross and Rang were treated at the Receiving Hospital.

to gain otherwise and because he personally hates Orozco through a feud arising from jealousy in the former revolution. If Orozco should win Villa would be the head of another revolution, of if a good opportunity could be made to start a Villa revolution and make it the main show Villa would quickly be opposed to the constituted government.

Zapata, the southern rebel, started purely as a bandit, and before long brought into his ranks several houses and men, so that now he has a well organized opposition to Madero and is able to make threats about taking the capital city that seriously alarm the residents. He is working in conjunction with Orozco, but his looting and stealing are carried on primarily for his own benefit and that of his two brothers who are his sub-commanders. Zapata calls himself a Socialist, and that has given him a sympathetic following among the radicals, but in the meantime Señor Zapata is amassing a healthy personal fortune big enough to enable him to turn magnate if playing Socialist proves tiresome.

Aside from his enemies in the field Madero is harassed by powerful and wealthy inimical forces elsewhere even in the heart of Mexico City. They have aided the Orozco cause appreciably with money, and that was Villa's excuse for robbing the bank and business houses of Paris of 18,000 pesos. Some of the richest men in Mexico are secretly behind the opposition to Madero.

When I saw Madero in Mexico City recently, and interviewed him as a representative of The Times he talked freely about Orozco's opposition, and gave his opinion as to its purpose. He said that he would have Orozco in jail in sixty days' time, and that Zapata's revolt was only a brigand outbreak, which took advantage of the necessity for concentrating the army in the north of Mexico.

"Orozco is personally disaffected," said President Madero, "because I had to tell him frankly that he does not possess the qualifications fitting him to be appointed Governor of the State of Chihuahua, and also because I could not turn over to him 100,000 pesos in cash, which he asked for. I did pay him 50,000 pesos. It is true, and very soon afterward he came and demanded another 50,000. The financial situation did not permit such a payment, and I told him so. He insisted that he must have it immediately, and was very angry and disagreeable about it. I agreed to arrange for the payment as soon as the finances would warrant and asked an attorney to draw papers binding the government to do so, and at that Orozco became angrier than before. Evidently he did not wish to have on record his demand for the money. I want the money in cash, and I want it right now," he said angrily, and then assured me that I could count him as an enemy.

"I regard Orozco as a man of considerable and harmful man, who is doing his country great injury. I am checking his revolt and in a short time punish him as he deserves." Sixty days have elapsed since President Madero gave these reassuring promises and he has not as yet checked Orozco's revolt. "Zapata is simply a brigand and who has never done anything but roam from mountain to mountain, looting and murdering. He has no principle, nor cause, but robs for personal gain. I have men enough to take care of him and his brigands also. He is a most illiterate man, but, like Orozco, wanted a position he was not fitted to fill. Zapata demanded to be made Governor of Puebla, yet he is not qualified to fill any government position. Now he is going around telling the people that all he fights for is to make them rich and happy. He did as did many others, right in my revolutionary forces, and he and others received full recompense. Both Zapata and Orozco demanded appointments they are too illiterate to undertake."

There you have the situation in Mexico today. Orozco and Zapata claim that they want Madero's revolution for him, and then they get paid for their services. Madero claims that they fought for the good of the nation and were remunerated amply. Madero undoubtedly owes a great deal to his former leaders, and no doubt, he has not seen fit to award them what they expected. As a result many third parties are suffering and the nation is almost in straits, while property interests must stand still until the quarrels are settled.

The exact depth and nature of this quarrel in Mexico is taken into consideration that in case Uncle Sam does not intervene, both sides will join together like brothers to fight side by side against the "gringos." This is not merely true—it is officially arranged. Federal and revolutionaries have an understanding that their fight will stop and they will unite the minute American intervention is pronounced. I know this to be a fact, because I had it confirmed from an entirely reliable and authentic source while in Mexico a few weeks ago.

That is one thing that will happen in case the United States intervenes. Mexicans will call a truce on internal squabbles and put up a common front against the hated foreigners. The understanding will be mutually known as temporary, however, and both sides will feel that when they are at liberty to open new revolutions it will be entirely fashionable to do so. I say both sides because there are in the Federal ranks a number of leaders who will be ready to start their own little revolutions at the first opportunity. Orozco will likely allow him a malcontent, for during the Madero revolution he was given a great deal of public attention, particularly in the newspapers, and made a public idol. He, therefore, is able to command a large following. At this time his army in the north has about 5000 men, well equipped with Mauser and Winchester rifles, and twenty cannon of various sizes, but without an ample supply of ammunition because of the restrictions placed on bringing rebel munitions over the American border. The rebels have had large revenues from sympathetic sources, and by imposing on the country they have controlled for the last six months. They have compelled the banks to take large amounts of their scrip or bonds, a polite method of taking their money from them, and one prominent Mexican bank has been compelled to close down as a result.

The pelado (peon) in the rebel territory has found himself forced by circumstances as much as any other cause to take up arms in the rebel ranks, whether he sympathizes or not. Capital cannot conduct business, and there is no demand for labor. The rebels have been paying two pesos daily to the common soldier, and such wages for the Mexican pelado are almost a fortune. As a laborer on the farm he receives only twenty-five cents a day. It is a work or starve with the peon, and he is given army life as a sort of work. The result was a better force than would be expected in a revolution; what it will be when Orozco's funds run out—as has been rumored from Chihuahua—is the case with another question.

In the earlier stages of the rebellion the revolutionaries were mainly successful in the campaign with the Federals. Then the rebel force was much superior in point of numbers, being two to five times larger, as it was before the full concentration and reinforcement of the Federal troops. At the battles of Kellamp, Escalon, Corralito, Parra and Villa-Lopez, the government troops met decisive defeat. But when Gen. Huerta and 7000 men arrived, bringing a very strong artillery force also, the situation changed. The Federals have fought fiercely and will continue to fight, but that does not mean that they are patriotic and united under the leadership of Madero. The truth is quite the contrary. The "volunteers" from the criminal class form a menacing body, who not only are subject to mutiny, but whose sullen conduct must inevitably have a dangerous effect on the disciplined regulars with whom they are brought in contact. The officers of Mexico's regular army know this and admit it. They have talks with the disciplined regulars who are apt to arise from such a condition, the so-called "volunteers" are placed on the march so that the regulars may follow them in larger numbers with their bayonets fixed ready to charge on and suppress any attempt at mutiny.

I saw a typical outbreak of these criminal volunteers recently in Toluca, when a newly-recruited regiment of peons and convicted murderers from the Laguna district refused absolutely to obey their officers and endeavored to kill them. Preparations were ordered for a march to meet the rebel army, and the volunteers refused to pay any attention to the officers, and declined to make ready to march. They surrounded their officers and shot dead four of the officers, and at that the entire regiment charged on its own officers, and thrusting for their blood. The commissioned men ran and managed to get away, and the volunteers carried off regular soldiers, where they were safe. All the regulars were at once called out and they surrounded the mutineers and took their arms away from them.

Even the regular soldiers, trained and disciplined, have no heart in the fight. "It would be much better, senior, if we kept all the men of our country to fight against the real enemy than to let such others," said a regular sergeant to me on a march from Bernalillo. He meant, as he practically said, that it would be much better to fight one's own blood kind, but that there could be some interest in repelling the Americans. The regular fight because they are taught to obey, and they fear the cruelty of their officers as well. Privates are often cruelly beaten with swords by the Mexican officers in case of infractions of regulations. They believe this is necessary to keep the soldiers in line.

The Federals may continue to win, they may capture Chihuahua and make their way to Juarez, but that does not mean crushing the revolution. Most certainly they will not be able to do this. Regardless of the march of the government army to the north, the rebels will continue their activities, and, in a way, in a more menacing manner than heretofore. If dispersed they will run for the mountains, and instead of warring as a fighting force under Orozco they will divide into bands and continue a hand-to-hand guerrilla warfare which it will be almost impossible to stop. Depredations now are held in check by Orozco and his officers, although they are not as numerous as they should be. The rebels are scattered and depredations are held in check by Orozco and his officers, although they are not as numerous as they should be. The rebels are scattered and depredations are held in check by Orozco and his officers, although they are not as numerous as they should be.

Zapata is not master of the States of Puebla, Morelos and Guerrero with his 6000 men, and for months he has been pillaging and destroying. He will continue to do so, and a similar condition will prevail in the Northern States. This must mean—if the result is not directly achieved—the indirect downfall of Madero's government; just as the friends of old "Gray Eagle" Porfirio Diaz predicted when he was compelled to leave the country. No government can continue under such dangerous and unstable conditions.

In case Uncle Sam intervenes, the cruel and barbarous methods now practiced daily in the war in Mexico will be given a wide publicity that must result in the loss of business. Americans have no conception of the atrocities practiced like by Federals and rebels. In this the "Zapatistas" have been especially brutal. It was told by an artillery officer who had been fighting the southern bandits that the cruelties they practiced on their enemies and on the people they robbed were actually unbelievable. He told of an artillery captain who had proved a brave foe against the bandits, but who was finally overwhelmed and captured by them. They tortured him in a most inhuman way and then cut his feet off bit by bit until he was conscious of the terrible agony. He then begged them to let him live, and they bent him over until he broke his back. Another officer had his ears cut off and his jaws bound together in an excruciatingly painful manner, and then was bound to a pole in the full rays of the hot southern sun and left to die slowly of thirst and hunger. Those, however, are mild instances. A great many of the schemes of barbarity practiced by the bandits are of such untold cruelty as to be too wicked to be narrated, and others are unprintable.

On the battlefields of Orozco's revolution, little mercy, if any at all, is shown to the wounded. It is common practice for the soldiers going over the field to thrust their bayonets in the eyes of the wounded and then to stab with the bayonets all over their bodies. Even the military doctors do not hesitate to accelerate the death of wounded by medical means, as it is cheaper and more expeditious to make way with them, and there are plenty of typhoid and black smallpox patients to fill all hospitals. Frequently wounded rebels are speared to death and then hung, naked, to telegraph poles to swing as warnings to the people.

Mexico does not possess the gigantic army necessary to quell the revolts certain to follow one upon another. More than that, it does not now have the leader who can inspire and direct the military, and who can mould his country into definite form and initiate and carry out constructive policies. Diaz may have been harsh as measured by our standards, but he knew what he had to deal with. He was a statesman of caliber, capable and foresight, enabling him to rank among the world's really big men, and yet it took twelve active years for him to pacify his country with conditions at no time one-half as evil as they are in Mexico at present. There is no such consummate builder of affairs as he in Mexico today, and without a man for the emergency there must be an era of revolution after revolution and innumerable vendettas throughout the length and breadth of the country. If Orozco should down Madero, the latter and his brothers and adherents would simply retreat to the mountains and maintain a fight against the successful leader. And in that case Orozco would have a great conflict with Zapata, as is now going on today.

Realizing this, it is difficult for Americans to anticipate the bitter anti-foreign sentiment in Mexico, so strong that it would bring together all parties to beat back the despised "gringos." The Mexican is like a child, and believes what he is so often told about the sources of more of his calamities being America. In case of intervention he would need no urging to fall upon Americans living in Mexico, especially with overwhelming numbers against the "gringos," to torture and kill them. The Mexicans would put up a united fight against an American army at first, but not for long. They have a long-standing fear of Texas, whom they know about, and when they found that the American soldiers were virtually all Texans in a fight, they would disperse and take to the mountains to carry on a continuous guerrilla warfare. The rough nature of the country would call for a large force, at least the present organized fighting strength, regular and militia, of the United States, to subdue the Mexicans, and discipline them as the thinking Mexicans seem to feel that it will and must. Mexico, the United States and the world would all benefit ultimately. Civilization's advantages and less cruel practices would supplant the medieval barbarities now common in Mexico, the country would become a more general development of resources, and the standard of the common people would be raised nearer to that common in the rest of the world.

INCENDIARIES AT DEL REY. Vacuum House Fired in Three Places, but Firemen Save Structure—First Venice Commencement.

VENICE, June 5.—The timely discovery of smoke issuing from a vacant residence here shortly after noon today, and the prompt response of the fire department prevented what might have been a serious conflagration at the Playa del Rey beach.

Knowing the house was not occupied, a passerby had his suspicions aroused by the smoke, and making investigation, he discovered three separate fires burning in the bedrooms. The house is one of three belonging to the Sherman and Clark holdings and is situated a short distance south of the railway station.

Evidence indicated that the fire had been started by an incendiary. The house had been vacant for many months and no cooking had been done there for a long time. The bedrooms in which the fires had been started were not adjoining rooms, and therefore would have been impossible for the fires to have communicated from one to the other. The distance to the house will not exceed $200.

For the first time, Venice High School commenced its graduation programme will open Sunday, June 9, with the delivery of the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. F. L. Holmes of Venice. Thursday, the student body will inaugurate officers. Friday will be commencement day, proper, with an address delivered by County Superintendent Koppell. A diploma will be awarded to Miss Florence Work, the first and only graduate of the Venice High School.

BARLEY FIELD DESTROYED. FIRENO, June 5.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Fire this afternoon destroyed 170 acres of barley on the H. H. Brix ranch seven miles from Fresno. The loss will amount to about $5000 which is partly covered by insurance.

The fire was accidentally started by several tramps when sparks from their camp fire fell on the barley field. An attempt was at first made to put out the fire by a bucket brigade, but failing in this a large acre was plowed and burning grain and the blaze checked in that manner. E. B. Hout leased the ranch from Brix. Numerous fires have occurred in this city and county since the hot spell but no serious fires have resulted.

SLATE SMASHED.

was unprecedented in the history of the party in this state. When the slate of names had cleared away and the names taken until tomorrow the insurgents had scored at least a temporary victory. They declare they will continue the fight today and that they have delegates enough to carry it through. Chairman Woertendyke and the friends of the other hand are not at all dismayed. They believe that even if they have not a majority of votes the action taken yesterday is legal and will have to be retraced. The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the hall, Temple Auditorium, by the chairman, Woertendyke. After a song by Mrs. J. W. Hall and the invocation by Rev. C. C. Woods, the official roll was read by Secretary L. C. Dale. M. W. Atwood of Pasadena, chairman of the county committee, was chosen temporary chairman; Rev. C. E. Eby of Pasadena and Rev. B. C. Johnson of Santa Ana were chosen temporary secretaries. The committee on Credentials consisted of C. R. Burt, L. C. Dale and L. M. Davenport.

WHEN TROUBLE BEGINS.

The afternoon session was called to order at 2 o'clock by Temporary Chairman Atwood. After a solo by Mrs. C. J. Hall the committee on Credentials reported that there were 111 duly accredited delegates in the assembly and that Los Angeles county had seventy-nine. The report of the committee on Order of Business recommended that the convention proceed in accordance with the call, and was accordingly to the regular order. A motion to adopt was promptly made. The trouble began when Alan Dobbin of Los Angeles, a friend of Editor Phillips, moved an amendment to the motion "that at the proper time this convention proceed to elect a State Committee." Rev. George S. Clark of San Bernardino seconded the motion and the fight was on.

Rev. F. W. Emerson, pastor of the First Christian Church of San Francisco, and a Woertendyke partisan, made such a vigorous protest against the amendment that a clamor arose from the delegates. Several began to sit at once and it was some time before the chairman could restore order. Emerson was again recognized. He reiterated his statement that the name was part of a scheme to overthrow the State chairman, refused to explain or retract and declared that when he knew he was right he allowed to man his set of men to dictate to him.

TUMULT.

When he sat down a dozen or more delegates clamored for recognition. The chair recognized J. H. Blanchard, Los Angeles attorney. This increased the uproar among the insurgents who claimed that they were being denied the right to be heard. The chairman was accused of partisanship and the convention was in a turmoil. Loud cries of "Question!" came from the insurgent ranks, these being secure in the possession of a majority of the votes. When order was restored Blanchard said:

"If this kind of spirit continues it will make scores and wounds in this party that will never heal. The election of a State Central Committee is contrary to law. This convention was called for a specific purpose and cannot lawfully transact any extraneous business. The powers of this body expire absolutely when we have elected delegates to the national convention and have transacted such other routine business as are outlined in the call." During his talk, Blanchard was beset by questioners from all sides and even Chairman Atwood's interpolated declaration that the speaker was an attorney of forty years' experience failed to stop the flood of derisive remarks.

LAWYERS DISAGREE.

E. D. Martindale, also an attorney, said that Blanchard's interpretation of the law was incorrect and that it was within the province of the convention to elect members of a State committee. At this point apparently every delegate on the floor had something to say and demands for recognition came from every part of the hall. The chairman was at his wit's end. He rapped for order. Finally he settled the question of priority by recognizing Miss Clara Della Weaver of Los Angeles. Then he wished her hadn't. Miss Weaver is a teacher of elocution and her voice has splendid carrying power. She used it effectively by denouncing the chairman and every other man in the convention in scathing terms. "You're nothing but a set of naughty boys," she declared, "and I am ashamed of you. One would think you were a set of little children quarreling over a toy instead of grown men gathered together for a serious purpose. My time is valuable. If this convention is going to attend to business I will stay, but if this senseless bickering is to continue I ask to be excused as a delegate." Mrs. E. N. Law, national lecturer of the Prohibition party, made an impassioned appeal to the convention to restore harmony. "Half a million boys are being annually destroyed by liquor," she said. "Their mothers' hearts are being crushed by the curse of rum and the members of this party, who business it is to fight against the traffic, sit here in convention and engage in an unseemly quarrel over personal differences."

Chairman Atwood left the chair and spoke, he said, in the interest of harmony. He only made it worse, however, because he became excited and threw down the gauge of battle to the insurgents. "You've backed up into a corner," he shouted, "and now we're going to fight. This is merely a scheme to unhorse the State chairman and we are not deceived by it. But it can't be done. No question of electing State committeemen can properly come before this meeting. If such a question is forced upon it, the next convention will undo what this one has done and we shall be the laughing stock of the whole nation." Delegate Dobbin proceeded to announce that he was willing to withdraw his motion until the next day, provided a committee of arbitration should be appointed. Notwithstanding the fact that Dobbin's motion had started the whole trouble nobody paid any attention to him and the convention proceeded to ballot. The vote was sixty-seven in favor of the amendment to fifty-one against, a decisive victory for the opponents of the State chairman. A still further victory for the same element was won when Theodore D. Kanouse was elected permanent chairman over Rev. F. W. Emerson, seventy-seven to forty-three.

The temporary secretaries were made permanent and the following elected on the Committee on Platform: T. W. Ringland, Chico; M. W. Atwood, Pasadena; B. J. Vincent, Hermosa; J. H. Earl, San Francisco; E. T. Martin, Pomona; Mrs. Alice Simmons, Riverside; and Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Los Angeles.

Last night's session was presided over by Rev. F. W. Emerson in the absence of Theodore Kanouse. Rev. Charles Clark Wood delivered an address on "The Insurgency of Citizenship" and Frank S. Rezan gave an address with chalk illustrations. The regular business of the convention will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock. The fight over the proposed election of a State committee will undoubtedly be resumed in spite of the claim that such an election can be properly made only by a convention which will be held in the central part of the State some time next month.

EDITOR CLAIMS BRIDE.

In the study of the Harvard Heights Presbyterian Church last evening was celebrated the wedding of Miss Vera Eastwood, No. 2777 West Eighth street, to Robert Angus Mack of Porterville. Rev. James F. Ross read the service. The ceremony and its appointments were characterized by extreme simplicity. Present for the wedding, there being only the two sisters of the bride, Misses Mamie and Erin Eastwood.

Directly following the ceremony the wedding party drove to the Alexandria, where a wedding supper was served. The bride has been a resident of Los Angeles for the past four years. She is a member of an old southern family. For the past two weeks her friends have been giving a series of dinners and teas for her in celebration of her approaching marriage. She but lately returned from Salt Lake City, where she was also the guest of honor at a number of social events.

Mr. Mack has been for the past five years a resident of California, during which time he has been engaged in newspaper work, and for the past three years, has been editor of the Porterville Daily Messenger.

MUSIC AND STAGE.

The Delmar Foster Girls is an organization of former musical comedy stars and eight sprightly dancing girls, who offer a miniature musical comedy containing ensemble, individual songs, clever dancing numbers and a little bit of almost everything to be found in a three-act musical play. The act offers many surprises in the way of costumes and electrical effects and comes direct from the eastern vaudeville houses with an elaborate scenic production.

Undoubtedly the strangest freak that has come to the stage in years and one of the scientific marvels of the age, is "Willard," a man who at will, while giving a monologue, can make his arm, his leg or his whole body grow before the eyes of an audience from five to six inches, while he can also shrink back to his original size without in any way interrupting his line of patter talk.

Others who will be seen on the new bill are Holmes and Riley; Alma, the little English comedienne; Roach and McCurdy in "The Frustrated Cut-Ups;" and Lawton, the juggling wizard.

Three prominent features appear in the next Pantages show. Cinderella, a spectacular extravaganza based on the fairy tale, Nadje, the "perfect woman," and the new "Sales" weekly news picture, which is to be issued by the independent film exchange, and will be the exclusive feature of the Pantages show each week.

The independent moving picture companies are now thoroughly organized, with over a dozen producing companies and exchanges in all parts of the country. Hitherto the only reliable source from which moving pictures could be secured was the "moving picture trust," an organization that has dictated absolute terms and conditions to the picture theaters throughout the country.

Additional attractions are Piccay, the hat and coin manipulator, Walton and Brandt, in a baseball travesty, and Louise Gerald and company in musical novelties.

Ray Cox, who jointly tops next week's Orpheum bill with Theobald Roberts, writes her own songs. This may or may not be a cause for congratulation; it depends on the songs. But reports all indicate that her efforts are worthy of her, especially her aeroplane number.

The two big Belasco-Beck productions, "Mrs. Butterfly" and "The Drums of Oude," are coming west this summer, and will play the Coast Orpheums, including the house here.

A Share in a Money-Earning Business is Exactly What We Are Offering You!

If the facts that we present herewith are not plain enough, let us make them clearer. The Gibraltar Investment and Home-Building Company invites the most searching investigation, and you have everything to gain by the enlisting of your co-operation. We do not need your money to do business with, but we do desire your co-operation and support in the making of much greater profits. Our money-making business is in plain sight, growing in the soil, and increasing in value day by day. The earnings easily guarantee any purchase of preferred stock. We cannot emphasize too strongly that we are selling you 8 per cent. preferred stock, in order to engage with you in broader plans of land development, orchard planting and home-building, while the earning power of your money is absolutely guaranteed from the actual present proceeds of the company's holdings. The stock of our immense nurseries at Rialto and Hemet, and more than the heavily-laden orange groves of Redlands, will pay a great deal more than 8 per cent. on all stock. The directors of this company have bought only common stock. The preferred stock is assured eight per cent. before the common stock can make anything. Most important in comparison with any other stock offered you are two big facts. The preferred stock of the Gibraltar Company has no limit in sharing the greater profits with the common, after 8 per cent. has been paid. The purchaser of preferred stock will make big profits for the plain reason that the directors of this company would not give their time and experience unless the earnings above that figure returned good profits to the common stockholders. In these greater earnings the holders of both stocks share equally. If you do not make money, nobody can. This company owns the largest olive nurseries in the world—1,500,000 trees—and other valuable nursery stock, including 350,000 orange trees. Also bearing orange groves. By the combination of your money with our money, our experience and property, the fertile valleys tributary to Los Angeles, can be used in the making of three profits instead of one—that of growing the trees—that of developing the land—that of the planted orchard over the vacant land. We save all extra commissions and selling cost. Further, our 8 per cent. preferred stock is exchangeable, at par, with accrued dividends, for any ranch, orchard, home or holding that the company has for sale. Can you show us any better money-making proposition or stock offering? If you are thinking of living on the land, can you offer any more practical plan? We can show you the fertile land itself, the growing trees, and any further facts that you desire.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

SCHOOL BONDS AT ISSUE TODAY.

San Bernardino.

Mass-meeting of Citizens in Active Campaign.

Large Volume of Permits for Buildings Issued.

Deluge of Rain Floods the Parched Desert Wastes.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 5.—The city pavilion was crowded tonight at a mass meeting held in support of the proposed $230,000 bond issue for a "poly" group, which is to come to a vote in the San Bernardino High School District tomorrow. Earnest men and women lined the platform, and one address following another were given bristling with arguments in favor of the issue.

It was pointed out that a city is known either by its school facilities or its lack; that the home-sellers who are thronging from the east are settling in those communities which have the latest facilities for the advancement of an education; that the "poly" system means a practical training for the boys and girls, instead of the cramming of young minds with a mass of scientific matter which will never be of use to them. Training of mind and hand are included in the polytechnic system.

Another feature upon which stress was laid was the fact that the present high school has become too cramped for the growing classes. It was built for a school one-quarter the size of the present school. The new school building, which is to be provided, next term, even if the bonds carry, the problem of providing for the larger classes will have become a delicate one. That more room is needed was a fact stressed by the educators, and it was pointed out that if the bonds do not carry, a large expense must be undertaken to provide portable schools to meet the emergency. A feature of the meeting tonight was the foremost part taken in it by the leading women of the town.

County Clerk Post announced today that any voter who was on the Great Register of 1910 and has not moved from the school district, even if he has changed wards or precincts, is entitled to vote at the election tomorrow.

BUILDING DEVELOPMENT.

That San Bernardino is leading all the interior cities this year in the volume of building permits is shown from a careful comparison, the percentage of gain over the previous year a record to be proud of. The permits for this city up to June 1 amounted to $225,465, or a gain of about 130 per cent. Ontario had the largest percentage of gain, being about 115 per cent. The building permits of that town for the same period reached $125,273.

Both Pomona and Riverside have been suffering lately. Pomona's health is $191,591, while Riverside went to $124,573. This month will be very dry for Riverside, the Federal building permit probably being issued. Riverside has had a very light build-up so far this year, the total amount somewhere around the $100,000 mark, but Redlands has any number of splendid residences in prospect which will undoubtedly take that city into the head of the list before the end of the summer.

RAIN FLOODS DESERT.

The desert section, bordering the San Bernardino range, was swept by a deluging rain this morning. The storm broke shortly after 10 o'clock, and the rain was so heavy that the desert was transformed into swollen streams. The rain came as a relief after two weeks of blistering heat, which had turned a green covering on the lowlands to ashy brown, and which had dried up the water holes in the desert. Even dried out water holes in the volcanic region.

ELKS WILL ADVERTISE.

The Board of Supervisors today appropriated the sum of $250 for the use of the Riverside Elks in the advertising campaign planned by the lodges of the orange belt. This advertising will take the form of the distribution of oranges, both along the route and at the annual reunion to be held at Portland in July.

GOOD ROADS CONFERENCE.

Mayor W. A. Freeman and other Ontario representatives were in the city today soliciting the aid of Riverside in the building of a new diagonal road between Ontario and this city by way of Wineville. The Riverside supervisors are willing to improve Riverside's portion of the work in the vicinity of Wineville, and the Ontario people are eager enough to go down into their own pockets to a certain extent to have the work done at their end of the line.

Murder or suicide?

WAVES CAST UP BODY OF UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 5.—The body of a woman on the beach here tonight is all the probabilities of a murder mystery, according to the police. Though the body was washed up by the tide, the authorities assert there is every indication that the victim came to her death by means other than drowning.

The police stated that the woman was found on the street here Monday, and that she had a violent quarrel with an unknown man near the Plaza.

Charles Smith, who conducted the body of the woman as the one who had the quarrel on the Plaza, declared that both men and women seemed to be under the influence of liquor, and said that as the woman left the scene of the quarrel she remarked:

"I just think, I built him up, and now he's down."

Both women were alike in appearance.

Smith stated to the police that as the woman walked in the direction of the beach, the man followed her and both were soon lost to his view.

The woman was about 45 years of age, had angular features, and her hair was quite gray. The man Smith described as being about 55, inclined to corpulence, with a heavy gray mustache.

The police found a woman resting on a bench, near where the body was found, who declared she saw the dead woman last night standing on the steps leading down to the beach.

A valise, containing woman's apparel, was found later, having been thrown up by the tide, and this strengthened the belief of many that it was simply a case of suicide.

A man answering the description given by Smith, as being the one who was quarreling with a woman on the Plaza, was found and declared that the woman he was with bought a ticket for Davenport, Iowa, and left the city last night. This was confirmed at the local depot.

COSTLY POLICY OF SEGREGATION.

NEW EDUCATION BOARD PLANS TO REDUCE EXPENSES.

Girls' High School Building May Be Used for Lower Grades—Woman's Rib Broken in Automobile Collision—L.W.W. Members Released on Orders from the South.

RIVERSIDE, June 5.—The rumor is abroad here that the newly organized Board of Education is considering the adoption of a policy of economy that will next year do away with the expense attached to maintaining two high schools, one for boys and one for girls.

Although the new Polytechnic High School group, designed for the boys, is practically completed and will be used for the first time next fall, the economists argue that it should be available for both sexes, and the present high school building, which the people have just learned to designate the "girls' high school," should be utilized for grade pupils.

The policy of the segregation of the sexes was adopted at the beginning of the present school year and had only a partial try-out for the reason that while the boys were in session in the forenoon and the girls in the afternoon, they had to use the same building.

BREAKS RIB IN COLLISION.

In an automobile crash last night, at Ninth and Mulberry streets, Mrs. V. B. Farrar was thrown to the pavement and sustained a broken rib. Her companion, a Mrs. LeGrande, was likewise thrown out but received only minor bruises.

Rev. Horace Porter, pastor of the First Congregational Church, accompanied by his wife and son, were traveling east on Ninth street, while Mr. and Mrs. Farrar and two children and Mrs. LeGrande and daughter were driving north on Mulberry. A hedge at the corner concealed the cars from the view of the drivers, and a collision was unavoidable.

The two women rose to their feet and were thrown by the impact. The rest of the party escaped injury. Both cars had a wheel crushed, but were not otherwise badly damaged.

L.W.W.'S RELEASED.

Six members of the L.W.W. confined in the Riverside County Jail at the request of the officers of San Diego for four months, were released today on the order of the District Attorney of San Diego county. There still remain three L.W.W. prisoners in the local jail.

Time to Clean House

Summer is here and we want a cleaning and clearing out.

Liver needs purging, stomach wants toning, as well as a good cleansing, bowels must be relieved of every particle of refuse and surplus matter.

Kidneys require a thorough flushing, and assistance in getting rid of accumulations.

The silent, efficient, reliable, absolutely perfect servant in the house for this work is PADRE'S TONIC LAXATIVE, 25c (special price), for box of 100 pellets at druggists.

To try it, it is to use it in preference to any other.

new building for a school to go up at once at Fourteenth street, the contract for which was let yesterday to W. D. Lambert of Long Beach. The city is at present occupying quarters in the bath-house building, but will occupy its new location as soon as the ordinance can be changed which prescribes the place of meeting.

CARNIVAL'S TABOO.

The application of a carnival company to use the beach for three weeks' carnival during July and August was discouraged by some members of the board and the application laid on the table on account of the undesirable element that generally follows the carnival.

TRUSTEE'S STANDING.

City Attorney Clyde Bishop handed in his opinion in the matter of the eligibility of Trustee Lee Collins, complaint against whom had been made on the ground that he was living outside the city. Mr. Bishop read a section of the statutes of a city was the sole judge of election and eligibility of members and that until the board took steps to have a member ousted from office on the grounds of ineligibility all of his official acts were legal.

The matter was decided at this time in view of the fact that the board will meet again on June 17 and call a bond election for light and power and having a member on the board would destroy the validity of the bonds. Mr. Collins has disposed of his house on Balboa Island and moved back into the city limits which will probably be the end of the effort to have him ousted from the board.

ALLEGED FRAUD.

Alleging that he can prove fraud, Malcom Baxter, Jr., has petitioned the Superior Court for an order to be allowed to take the testimony of Chester Spencer, J. Horsey F. C. Spencer and Emma M. Hunter, all of Anaheim. Baxter alleges in the document filed today that he as heir to the estate of Christina E. Romer expects to bring suit against C. A. Hoega, George Vandenberg, F. L. Eastman and others of Anaheim, who as innocent purchasers have come into possession of land that Baxter declares rightfully belongs to the Romer estate.

Baxter alleges that Chester Spencer was administrator of the estate and F. C. Spencer, attorney, that they had been in the possession of the land in the afternoon, they had to use the same building.

The policy of the segregation of the sexes was adopted at the beginning of the present school year and had only a partial try-out for the reason that while the boys were in session in the forenoon and the girls in the afternoon, they had to use the same building.

THE PHRASE --- "Life's Worth

Living at Beverly Hills" is rapidly becoming known from coast to coast. Scribner's Magazine, one of the most eminent periodicals of the nation, will contain a description of Beverly Hills, accompanied by some very fine halftone photographs, in a coming issue. When such a notable magazine will feature a residence subdivision in this manner, without compensation, there must be something extraordinarily meritorious about the property.

Life is indeed worth living in a place that includes every scenic and climatic advantage that Southern California affords—a place that resembles a large park with charming foothills in the background, and plentifully dotted with artistic homes of unusual architectural design—a place of flowers, ornamental shrubbery, semi-tropical parks, thousands of trees that are always green, a fascinating water garden, broad, gracefully-winding petroleolithic boulevards, close-by canyons with alluring trails, a wealth of mountain, valley, city and ocean vistas; no cramped fifty-foot lots—but all real suburban estates—THIS IS BEVERLY HILLS. And is it any wonder that life's worth living in such a place?

Over three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of value-giving improvements are already established. Home-building activity is incessant. But despite the vigorous building and selling activity, prices of lots are surprisingly low. Big villa plots, 80x160 to 100x260, are purchasable at $20 to $30 per front foot—indisputably the best homesite-buying opportunity available in or suburban to Los Angeles.

Living at Beverly Hills" is rapidly becoming known from coast to coast. Scribner's Magazine, one of the most eminent periodicals of the nation, will contain a description of Beverly Hills, accompanied by some very fine halftone photographs, in a coming issue. When such a notable magazine will feature a residence subdivision in this manner, without compensation, there must be something extraordinarily meritorious about the property.

ANY motorist who investigates the tests made of the Knight motor by the Royal Automobile Club of England will be convinced that no motor can realize the fullest efficiency unless equipped with positively driven valves.

The Knight motor increases power and flexibility 50%. These results, more than its silence, have made its great popularity.

The design of the Columbia Knight was personally approved by Charles Y. Knight before it was offered to the public.

Eleven to seven! A merchant who knows says that it costs him eleven cents per delivery by horse—and seven by Ford cars. The difference? Due partially to the tremendously increased cost of living for Dobbin—but mainly to the wonderful efficiency of the Ford.

Ford delivery cars cost but $700 f.o.b. Detroit—complete with all equipment. In mechanical construction they are identical with all the seventy-five thousand new Fords we are making and selling this season—a proof of their unequalled worth. BERT SMITH SEES FLYNN.

"Times" Man at the Las Vegas Camp.

How Kid Skelton Was Beaten Cruelly.

Smith Finds Johnson the Whiter Man.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

(With The Times Ocean-View Automobile.)
(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
LAS VEGAS, June 5.—When Jim Flynn knocked Kid Skelton out four days ago during a sparring exhibition he got in wrong with the sporting element here in Las Vegas. Skelton is a kid only 19 years old, and is a light-weight. He claims that Flynn hit him just as they were shaking hands. Flynn's side of the story is that Skelton butted him.

Here is the straight of it. Skelton was Flynn's sparring partner. He is an ambitious boy and made a good showing several times. In a desire to show off Flynn mauled the inexperienced lad and put him out before a crowd, but he lost thousands of friends and admirers. Then in his disgust, he followed this brutal exhibition by laying a second sparring partner low.

Without waiting to give Flynn another chance Skelton quit the near-champion cold, and today was chosen as a sparring partner for Johnson. Skelton says there is no comparison between the two men, and claims that Flynn is no match for the black champion.

JOHNSON MAKES HIT.
That Johnson has come into his own at last is evidenced by a speech here two days ago when he addressed 5000 people. The big negro made a great hit and was cheered to the echo as he walked through the crowd to his big motor car.

"I'll knock Flynn out right after the tenth round," said Johnson today. "He can't last with me. I expect this fight to go about ten rounds, and then I'll finish him in the eleventh. I was never better in my life, and I feel just as well as when I fought Jeff. I'm just as fast, and I don't weigh much more than when I went into the ring at Reno."

LIKE SULTAN OF SULU.
Mrs. Jack Johnson is a beautiful woman. She seems to be taking a keen interest in the work of the big champion, who is out every day on the road working hard. Johnson has a retinue that would make the Sultan of Sulu envious. He has seven sparring partners.

Tearing into the bag today at his exhibition Johnson tore the leather from its moorings and the bag itself a spectator in the stomach with great force. Johnson showed up remarkably well in the four-round bout with Cutler. The white man struck the champion one vicious blow in the face, but Johnson, who appeared to have been taken unawares, then started a bombardment which would have put Cutler out of business had not the champion allowed his partner to stand out the bout.

There was never a more polite prize-fighter in any ring than the same Jack Johnson. If it was not for his color he would be the most popular man that ever entered a ring. He seems to have a coterie of friends here who are pulling for him with a mighty hold.

FLYNN IS FAT.
Jim Flynn is hog fat. He tips the scales at 210 pounds. This is the heaviest Flynn has ever weighed. He says he is in the shape for the fight, but he must certainly lose some of his weight before he looks anything like the Flynn who met Sam Langford in Los Angeles. Prosperity has turned Flynn's head. The Italian is in camp at the Hotel Montezuma. He is gracious to the newspaper men, but to others he is said to be lofty and dictatorial.

Here is the way the fight is doped by some of the big fellows. Flynn is to win somewhere between the tenth and the fifteenth rounds. The Italian is said to have been offered a large sum by the moving-picture people if he wins. The pictures would be valuable.

How Bill Reidy Won the Game.

No Connie Mack for Seals.

After trying to direct the game from the bench for one day, the new manager of the San Francisco team came out on the coaching lines yesterday in the most respectable-looking uniform seen here this season. He threw some tobacco into the game—and won it.

Scandal.

BASEBALL PRESIDENT FINDS VERNON TOUGH.

Gambling and Drinking Must Be Stopped or a Meeting of the Pacific Coast League Will Be Called to Take Action—San Diego Shocked at Franchise Cost—Drastic Measure Likely in Vernon Case.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unless conditions are improved by the league executive, according to his own statement, saw many drunken men in the grounds. The standing of the spectators was far below that in the ordinary ball park, and there was but one woman at the morning game, a testimony to the dissipation that is permitted.

One game a week is played at Vernon, and the head of the league was told the Vernon management that things must be cleaned up. If this is not done, the directors will be called into a special session, and it is estimated that drastic measures will be taken if necessary to institute reforms.

It was at the request of several enthusiastic San Diego people that President Baum, Cal. Ewing and Henry Berry visited that city to talk over the prospects of organizing a team. A. G. Brown was among those with whom the baseball magnates met. None of the San Diego people understood conditions and were astounded when Ewing told them it would cost from $40,000 to $50,000 to gather a team and they might have to stand a couple of seasons at a loss. He also told them it would mean from $1000 to $5000 a month in salaries.

The San Diego proposition, therefore, is considered as shelved at least for the time being.

Sails Hoisted.

SEAFARER MAY NOT ENTER RACE; LURLINE SAILS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

IT is doubtful whether the Seafarer will take part in the Hawaiian yacht race this year. L. A. Norris, her owner, confessed when interviewed in San Francisco yesterday that he had forgotten all about it. Last night, however, he telephoned to Commodore Warren Wood of the South Coast Yacht Club that he would try to get his crew together and sail Sunday for San Pedro.

SAN DIEGO, June 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Blasts of whistles along the water front this afternoon announced the sailing of the yacht Lurline on its journey to San Pedro to take part in the race June 11 across the Pacific to Honolulu. As the Lurline sailed out of the harbor the fleet of the San Diego Yacht Club acted as escort. Spick and span, with every timber tested and cleaned, the yacht of the San Diego Yacht Club came off the marine ways last night.

Capt. Lew Harris, who has sailed other yachts in the Honolulu race to victory, is the skipper who feels certain that the Lurline will carry off the honors this year. The Lurline holds the record between San Pedro and Honolulu, having covered the distance in 12 days and 5 hours, made in 1906 when it defeated the Anemone and La Paloma. This time has held since.

The Lurline will spend all this week at sea trying out its canvas and giving its crew opportunity for practice before the starting of the race at San Pedro next Tuesday. A. E. Davis, owner of the Lurline, is confident his boat will make a good showing in the coming contest.

The crew includes Capt. Lew Harris, master; George Swanson, mate; Forster, Clark, Roy Keys, George Leovy, Ted Langdon, Herman Halcomb, Burt Dill, Frank, Arthur Simpson, Ned Payson, Bill Farmer and the cook. Another man will join the yacht at San Pedro. This will make a ship's company of fourteen men.

SEALS PUNCH RALEIGH HARD.

Slam Him for Four Runs in First Six Innings.

Schmidt's Hitting Is Real Feature of Game.

Tigers Try for Grandstand Finish but Fail.

BY GREY OLIVER.

San Francisco, 7; Vernon, 4.
Well, well. What do you know about this?

Bill Reidy, new manager of the San Francisco Seals, out on the coaching line in uniform, for the first time won his first game as a real manager yesterday when he made his Seals skin the Tigers.

Not all the bluffs of Hap Hogan, yelling from the third base line, could stop Bill, for the baby manager was there with all the usual stuff that is supposed to win games. He jumped up, yelled, clapped his hands and "iced" his men on so strong that it seemed that they could not lose with such ginger.

And they did not, for they made eight hits and four runs off Raleigh and after he had enough Whalen was stuck in and he was rapped for five swats and three runs.

The Tigers tried to make a grandstand finish in the ninth inning-off Fanning, but the best they could do was to get a double, a triple and a single and two runs. After Burrell had doubled and Brown had tripled Reidy threw Fanning on the bench and sent in Miller and this bird tied a knot in the Tiger's tail. Hap almost but not quite won.

The game was a slashing one in the way of excitement for after the Tigers had clawed out three runs in the first three innings the Seals came back and made two in the fourth and then two more in the sixth. Raleigh stayed with it for one more inning and then threw up his hands to give Der Whale a chance to show himself.

The Whale didn't show much, for the Seals proceeded to ride him all around the ring in his first inning, the eighth, and whanged him again for the winning run in the ninth.

It might have been all luck, but it was hard slugging of the ball, that really won for the Seals. They made no less than thirteen swats, including a triple and two doubles, and if these things cannot advance the score nothing can.

OLD STYLE GAME.

It was one of the old-fashioned kind, this game. Plenty of hard punching, a few dinky errors and enough good plays to keep the fans from going to sleep. Brown hit a triple and a double, Carlsle and Schmidt a double and two singles, McCardle a triple and a single and the others a sufficient number to make some of the pitchers think there was a lot of rain coming down. Schmidt's hitting caused several storms.

Why, in the fourth inning alone, the Seals whanged Raleigh for a triple, double and two singles after two men were out and made two easy runs. In the sixth they got two more singles and two runs and then in the eighth when Whalen ventured into the game they slammed him for three singles and a sacrifice for two more runs.

They could not be stopped and while the majority of the fans wanted to see them win they howled their heads off at the end for the Tigers to finish in front. Funny things, these baseball fans.

The fun began in the first inning when Carlsle landed on Fanning for a double, ran to third on Kane's single and scored after the catch of Hoop's sacrifice fly to center. Two more runs arrived in the third when Schmidt began to wobble.

Raleigh started with a strike-out, and then Carlsle singled to right and advanced to third on two passed balls. Kane walked and stole second and then Hoop bounced to Mohler, who threw to the plate to catch Carlsle and would have done so had not the runner knocked the ball out of Schmidt's hands. Hoop landed on third on the out and then scored when he and Brashear worked a double steal.

In the fourth the Seals woke up with a bang, when, with two out, McCardle tripled to right-center and then followed singles by Corhan and Jackson and a double by Schmidt, two runs resulting.

These things braced up the Seals and Bill Reidy began to get busy on the third-base coaching line. In the sixth Raftery grounded to Brashear, who juggled the ball, and McCardle made good with a sacrifice. Corhan's single to left scored Raftery, and Corhan ran to second on the throw-in of the ball. After Jackson had popped out, Corhan had no trouble in scoring on Schmidt's single to center.

The Tigers tied the score in their half of the seventh on Brown's double and Carlsle's single and, with the score tied, Raleigh withdrew from the game.

Whalen went in to pitch in the eighth and the Seals got busy with him without loss of time. Raftery flew to left, but McCardle beat out an infield single. Corhan's sacrifice advanced him and Jackson's swipe to right scored him. Jackson stole second and scored on Schmidt's single to left. A pass and two singles made the final run for the Seals in the ninth.

With the score 7 to 4 against them, the Tigers went into the final inning determined to make up for lost time, and they almost did it. Burrell, the first up, slapped a double over third and Brown hit a triple past first, scoring Burrell, to the music of the howls of the Vernon fans, who were trying to yell their heads off.

REIDY IS SCARED.

These two blows were too much for Reidy and he removed Fanning and substituted Miller. While this bird has not shown much here so far, he made the Tigers back up in this critical period, however. Dolly Gray was put in to bat for Whalen and made a Texas-league single to center.

Speculation vs. Investment A Square Deal In Oil

Some people wish to invest their idle funds, seeking safety and income. Other people are seeking a speculation where there is an opportunity of making a large sum of money from a small speculation. This announcement relates to a speculation—not an investment. It is not as safe as a government bond. You are not guaranteed against loss. It is not now paying dividends. In short it is not an investment and if you are seeking a safe, sound investment this announcement will not appeal to you. This is a speculation. The fair, square deal kind. This offers you an opportunity to put up a few dollars with the chance (a mighty good chance) of drawing down hundreds or thousands of dollars. We refer to the stock of the Coblentz Oil Company, and there is every chance to make a lot of money by risking a small sum. Well No. 1 is down 3750 feet and work is being prosecuted daily. Only a few hundred feet of additional drilling to be done, so you are assured of quick action on your money. The nearest oil well on the adjoining property is producing nearly $200 worth of oil daily. Now, if Coblentz well No. 1 is as good (and every indication favors it) Coblentz stock will be worth par, one dollar per share, with one well on it. The lease is on 45 acres and there is room for a dozen wells. Figure the result yourself. Coblentz stock can be had today for 15 cents per share (par value $1).

$ 15 will buy 100 shares, par value $ 100
30 will buy 200 shares, par value 200
45 will buy 300 shares, par value 300
75 will buy 500 shares, par value 500
150 will buy 1000 shares, par value 1000
375 will buy 2500 shares, par value 2500
750 will buy 5000 shares, par value 5000

There is only a small block of stock to be sold at this price. We may be compelled to ask more money for it any day. The entire capital stock of the Coblentz Oil Company is only 40,000 shares, each of a par value of $1. Nearly one-half of the stock still remains in the treasury. There will not be any great, big capital stock to put dividends on. You are putting your money up along with responsible business men and bankers who are perfectly willing to take the chance involved. As we have stated before, this is not an investment. There is a risk to be taken, just as there is in any oil ground until the first well is brought in. Most of the stock is owned right in Santa Maria by people who are thoroughly familiar with the land and the management. While this is a speculation it is a genuinely fair, square speculation. The company is not over capitalized, the management is in the hands of a substantial, reputable business men who have invested their own money, the property adjoins one of the best producers in the State, the well is nearly finished and only a few hundred feet more will tell the story, and we are firmly of the opinion that a big well will be brought in in the immediate future. We believe that every dollar put into this proposition will make you ten dollars and make it quick.
